From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 27.

Vienna, Feb. 13.

YEſterday an Expreſs arriv'd from Tirnau, with Letters from the Dutch Miniſters there to the Engliſh Miniſter here. The Purport of thoſe Letters is variouſly reported; ſome ſay the Dutch Miniſters write, that the Aſſembly of the Eſtates of Hungary at Miſgotſch being broken up without having paſs'd any Reſolution of Importance, Prince Ragotski and Count Berezeni were return'd to Tirnau; but had declar'd themſelves ready there to renew the Negociations for Peace: On the contrary others pretend the Import of thoſe Letters is, That the Aſſembly at Miſgotſch continues, and that the Dutch Miniſters not thinking it proper to go thither themſelves, had ſent the 2 Hungarian Deputies Viza and Occoluccciani, to communicate to the Aſſembly the Emperor's laſt Declaration.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Feb. 25.

Vienna, Feb. 13. The 11th an Expreſs arriv'd from Count Rechteren at Tirnau, with Letters for M. Stepney, importing, that ſince the great Council of the Malecontents held at Miſgotſch broke up without having come to any Reſolution touching an Accommodation with the Emperor, Prince Ragotski and C. Berezeni are come to Tirnau, and have call'd a new Aſſembly of the Nobility of Hungary, to take into Conſideration the Emperor's laſt Declaration: But many look upon this to be all Grimace, and that their true Intention is only to gain Time that they may be able the better to execute their Projects, the rather becauſe we have certain Advice that there are arriv'd at Belgarde 600 French, all Officers, Ingeniers, Miners, and Gunners, which are ſhortly expected at Prince Ragotski's Army. The Malecontents have lately burnt the Town of Hoflein ſituate half a League from Eyſenſtad and belonging to Prince Eſterhaſi Palatine of Hungary: They likewiſe ruine the Vineyards about Oedenbourg; and continue the Blockade of that Place, in hopes to make it ſurrender in a little Time for Want of Proviſions: Yet Yeſterday we receiv'd an Account from thence, that there are but 3000 Men employ'd in that Blockade, the reſt of the Troops of the Malecontents being retir'd into the Rabau or Iſland of Schut; upon which it has been reſolv'd by the Imperial Court to order General Palfi to march forthwith with the Body of Forces he commands to attempt to relieve the Place. We have certain Advice, that another Body of Malecontents advancing lately to the Frontier of Stiria, to ſurprize the Troops General Hanibal Heiſter commands there, were ſo well receiv'd, that they were forc'd to retire with the Loſs of ſeveral Hundred Men kill'd, and of 4 Cannon taken; they carried off their wounded to Ruſt in 9 Waggons. 'Tis reported Prince Ragotski has written a Letter to his Wife, who has been a long Time in this City, in which he tells her that his Defeat in Tranſilvania was not ſo great as was given out here, and that the Emperor muſt not hope for Peace in Hungary, unleſs he will yield to him the Principality of Tranſilvania.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 25.

Berlin, Feb. 16. We have a particular Account here of what paſs'd in the King of Sweden's Army the 23d, 24th and 25th of laſt Month near Grodno; among other things, that the King of Sweden would have attack'd his Enemy's Camp the 25th, but his Generals repreſenting to him that it was in all Appearance impoſſible to do it with Succeſs, diſſwaded him from it; whereupon he march'd off towards Merez. Other Letters ſay, that his Swediſh Majeſty after he march'd 16 Miles from Grodno, reſolv'd to advance to Wilna to ſieze the Magazines of the Muſcovites there, but that the latter having Intelligence of his Deſign, burnt them. The Swediſh Army had ſuffer'd extremely by hard marches, and was diminiſh'd 3000 Men. The Advices from Dantzick of the 13th Inſtant, vary; ſome ſay the King of Sweden was near Grodno with his Army, and had reſolv'd to bombard his Enemy in their Camp; others, that part of the Swediſh Army was between Wilna and Grodno, but that the King of Sweden, with the Generals Stromberg and Steinbock, and 4 or 5000 Horſe, carrying 2000 Foot behind a like Number of them, was march'd with all Expedition to poſſeſs himſelf of Poloſch, where the Muſcovites have a fine Train of Artillery (conſiſting of 200 Braſs Pieces) and a Magazine: This laſt Account agrees moſt with the Advices the Swediſh Reſident here has receiv'd; but Poloſch lying 30 German Miles from Grodno, and it being hard to imagine how the Horſe can carry double ſo far with any Expedition, we wait for a further Account.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 27.

Konigsberg, Feb. 16, 'Tis advis'd from Grodno, that General Repuin, with 30000 Muſcovites, being poſted in a ſtrongly intrench'd Camp by that Town, the Swediſh Army advanc'd thither and threw in 7 Bombs; but were oblig'd to draw off with Loſs; that the Muſcovites took a Collonel Priſoner; and that the Swedes took their march from thence towards Wilna, with Deſign 'twas ſuppos'd to take Winter Quarters in Lithuania, 1500 of their Men having had their Legs or Arms mortified by the extreme Rigour of the Weather.

Hague, Feb. 26. ' The States of the Province of ' Holland have nominated M. Van Collen, Coun- ' cellor of the City of Amſterdam, to be their Field- ' Deputy the enſuing Campaign: And the Province ' of Gelderland have nominated M. Renſwoud to ' be theirs. Mr. Treaſurer Hop will go from hence ' to Morrow to ſee the Recruits for our Troops in ' Catalonia and Portugal embark'd. The Subſtance ' of a Letter written by General Reinſchild to his ' Lady at Berlin, giving an Account of the Victory ' he obtain'd over the Saxons in great Poland the ' 12th Inſtant, is in the Hands of ſome Miniſters ' here; we are told it imports, that 5000 Saxons ' and Muſcovites were ſlain on the Spot, that 6000 ' were taken Priſoners among them 200 Officers, ' with above 100 Colours, Thirty odd Pieces of ' Cannon, and all their Baggage and Ammuniti- ' on. There is no ample Relation of this Battle ' yet tranſmitted from either Party: The publick ' Prints that will come to you by this Poſt, do but ' repeat the firſt Advices, with ſome Variation; ſo

' that

'that we must wait for the next Letters from Po-
'land and Saxony for an authentick Account.

From the Amsterdam Gaz. and Cour. dated Feb. 26.

From the French Camp at Gandela, Feb. 2. The Miquelets have abandon'd the Castles of Valderole, Baltea, and Flex; as also that of Orta, which would have given us Employment had the Enemy defended it, because it cannot be attack'd without Cannon, and 'tis almost impossible to bring any to it, the Country being very Mountainous, and having no Roads in it for Artillery. The Marshal de Thesse has sent Troops to those 4 Castles, with Order to blow them up, that the Country may not be tempted to rise agen when we are gone a great Way from them. The Marshal has since caus'd the Castle of Miravez, which is the only one the Enemy have on this Side the Ebro, to be invested by 5 Battallions and 4 Squadrons; and our Miners are set to work till our Cannon be brought before it. The Governour (an Englishman) has been summon'd to surrender, and threaten'd very hard in Case he refus'd; but he answer'd, that he had more Loyalty for King Charles III. than to capitulate before a Breach was made in the Place, and that he would make the best Defence he could: His Garrison is but 150 Men. The Marshal de Thesse finds it necessary to make himself Master of this Place, for the security of the Convoys of Provisions and Ammunition that may be sent to him down the Ebro.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Feb. 27.

Bayonne, Feb. 10. 400 Recruits for the French Troops in Spain commanded by the Marshal de Thesse, have begun their march from St. Jean Pied de Porc; and 500 Packs of Cloathing for those Troops are since arriv'd: 'Tis talk'd 4000 Recruits in all are order'd to Spain, and that they will joyn the Army before the End of this Month.

From the Antwerp and Amst. Cour. dated Feb. 26.

Paris, Feb. 22. Since the Arrival of the Duke of Vendome several Councils of War have been held, and that General will set out for Lombardy agen the 10th of next Month. All the Recruits for his Army, are on the March, and are order'd to make all the Expedition they can. The Sieges of Barcelona and Turin are finally resolv'd on, and the King has assign'd 5 Millions of Livres for the Expence of them: The first of those Places will be besieg'd the 10th of March, and the other the 2d of April. 1200000 Livres are sent to Toulon, for the Use of the Fleet, which will put to Sea the 1st or 2d of March.
